THE VIGANÒ REPORT

On August 26, 2018, an 11-page “testimony” was published in the Italian newspaper La Verità. In this document Archbishop Carlo Maria Viganò, denounces Rome’s protection of the American Cardinal Theodore McCarrick, a homosexual predator who was forced to resign from the College of Cardinals last June.

Cardinal McCarrick’s Protégés

On August 25, the Vaticanist Sandro Magister denounced and gave the names of the network that grew up around Cardinal McCarrick: “McCarrick continued right to the end, with plenty of attention from Pope Francis, to use his influence in the appointments of his protégés, who today occupy important positions in the United States and in the Vatican: from Cardinals Blaise Cupich and Joseph Tobin, archbishop of Chicago and Newark respectively, to Cardinal Kevin Farrell, prefect of the dicastery for laity, family and life, and today the organizer of the world meeting of families in Dublin. Cupich, Tobin, and Farrell constitute the vanguard in the reversal of positions that Pope Francis has wanted to impose in the hierarchy of the United States. And all three are fervent supporters of the Jesuit James Martin, the promoter of a substantial revision of the doctrine of the Catholic Church on homosexuality, who has been called by Farrell as a speaker at the meeting in Dublin.

“Among the cardinals of the older generation most esteemed by Bergoglio is also Donald Wuerl, McCarrick’s successor in Washington and previously the bishop of Pittsburgh, where however a Pennsylvania grand jury accused him – in a report made public last August 14 – of covering up for his priests who were guilty of abuse.

“Among the dioceses adjacent to Rome, that of Albano holds a forum every year on ‘LGBT Italian Christians.’ And at the next one, from October 5-7, one of the speakers will be the Jesuit, Martin, mentioned above. The bishop of Albano is Marcello Semeraro, very close to Francis and secretary of the C9, the council of nine cardinals called by the pope to help him in the governance of the universal Church. The coordinator of the C9 is the Honduran cardinal Óscar Andrés Rodríguez Maradiaga, he too one of the Dublin speakers, but whose auxiliary bishop and protégé Juan José Pineda Fasquelle was removed last July 20 on account of ongoing homosexual activity with seminarians of the diocese, verified by an apostolic visitation. Maradiaga, however, inexplicably remains at his post.”

How is one to understand so much depravity, so much complicity, protected by such silence? One hypothesis mentioned in Archbishop Viganò’s letter could offer some elements of an explanation, among many others. The former nuncio writes on page 4: “If Sodano had protected Maciel, (Marcial Maciel Degollado, founder of the Legionaries of Christ, a pedophile who lived with his partner, died in 2008. Ed. note) as seems certain, there is no reason why he wouldn’t have done so for McCarrick, who according to many had the financial means to influence decisions.”

Cardinal McCarrick’s “financial means” came from the Papal Foundation, whose way of working was explained by Michelle Boorstein, reporter for the Washington Post, in an article on July 31 entitled “As rumors of sexual misdeeds swirled, Cardinal McCarrick became a powerful fundraiser for the Vatican.” While still the archbishop of Newark, Cardinal McCarrick participated in the creation of the Papal Foundation in 1988 and was a member of its administrative board until he resigned last June. The foundation’s principle was simple: find benefactors who would promise to give a minimum of 1 million dollars over 10 years ($100,000 a year) to the works of the Holy Father. On its website, the foundation says it has already raised over 215 million dollars since it was created. Founded to awaken the generosity of American Catholic benefactors, deeply shaken by the Marcinkus affair and Ambrosiano bank scandal (fraudulent bankruptcy in which an American prelate, Paul Marcinkus was implicated in 1982. Ed. Note), the Papal Foundation became one of the major financial resources at the direct disposal of the Holy See...

What Now?

It would seem that with his total silence on Archbishop Viganò’s testimony, Pope Francis hopes that the affair will die out all by itself, just like the Dubia on Amoris Laetitia that have gone unanswered since September 2016. But is this silence really idle? The historian Roberto de Mattei revealed on his website Corrispondenza Romana on September 6 that the pope has supposedly asked Cardinal Francesco Coccopalmerio, president emeritus of the Pontifical Council for Legislative Texts (and implicated by Archbishop Viganò), and other canon lawyers to look into the canonical sanctions to be imposed upon the former nuncio to the United States, who risks being subjected to a suspens a divinis, that is to say, forbidden to administer the sacraments.

But Pope Francis’ silence may not seem an adequate response to the American episcopate that has been greatly discredited by these scandals. Several bishops are demanding action. (End) FSSPX.News
